

CleanEquity® Monaco 2015 – Announcing Collaborations & Companies

CleanEquity Monaco, 5th & 6th March, is the preeminent global forum, where 30 of the worlds top emerging cleantech and resource efficiency companies gather to meet specialist financial investors, corporate venturers & acquirers, policy makers, end users and media.

CleanEquity Monaco's eighth annual conference will continue its mission to enable and accelerate world relevant, best in class, disruptive clean technology companies.

Innovator Capital, the investment bank which has hosted CleanEquity since 2008, is pleased to announce its new collaboration with Cranfield University, the postgraduate specialist for research and teaching in science, technology, engineering and management.

Cranfield University's participation in CleanEquity highlights it as one of the world's leading hubs for Innovation.

Professor Tom Stephenson, FEng, Pro-Vice-Chancellor - Research and Innovation at Cranfield, said:

"We are delighted to be working with Innovator Capital on this initiative. Cranfield is world-leading in its contribution to global innovation; it is part of our 'corporate DNA'. We are one of the top five research-intensive universities and the only postgraduate university specialising in technology and management in the UK.

As a leader in transformational research, our work informs policy for governments, management best practice and produces new technologies and products for the world of commerce. We work with more than 750 businesses and governments around the world, from the smallest owner-managed SMEs to the largest multinational conglomerates such as Airbus, Jaguar Land Rover and Unilever.

We have contributed to the green economy for over forty years, working with key partners such as the UK government's Defra (Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs), NERC (Natural Environment Research Council) and leading UK water organisations. We inform and develop environmental policy and business models; driving sustainable economic growth that protects the environment."
